

On the Norfolk coast lies 15 miles of pristine sandy beaches, and further inland you'll find charming villages and towns a plenty. This traditional sea-side resort is best known for end-of-the-pier fish and chips, but it is also perhaps one of the most important historic parts of the east coast of England, and a great base for a bowls holiday. There's a reason why since the late 1700's it has been regarded as one of the most popular destinations in the UK for a short break!
